It was Peter's first day at school. He was sitting in the playground. He wanted to play basketball with his classmates. But he was shy, so he didn't play with other children.

Suddenly, a boy came closer to Peter. The boy invited Peter to play basketball together. He felt happy and joined them.

Then, Peter got hurt with his leg. The boy helped Peter up and took him to the medical room.

At last, Peter felt touched because the boy took care of him. Peter likes this school very much.
